ECONOMY IN BUYING SEEDS.

Every man is not paying less for a thing than he expected to pay for it. The economy in good management, and about the worst management a farmer can be guilty of is to buy cheap seeds and thus cut the value of his crops in half—no worse. A seed can come from higher than its source and a crop cannot be better than its seed.
Real seed economy is buying seeds that bear the stamp of a house that is known to be reliable; then the the planter is absolutely sure that he gets what he wants and what he pays for. In every part of the country dealers sell the absolutely reliable seeds of H. M. Ferry & Co., Windsor, Ont., which have given uniform good results for the last 42 years. Ferry's Seed Annual for 1898, containing information which no farmer or gardener can afford to be without, will be sent free to anyone making application to the firm.

A Narrow Escape.

At the beginning of this week, Speaker Bettis, of Prince Albert, who is at present at Banff, came within an ace of being a "damp, moist, unpleasant corpse." It seems that in company with a party of ladies he went skating on the Bow River and broke through. Fortunately the spot was not deep and he was rescued without difficulty. It is to be hoped that no ill effects will result from his involuntary bath.

We regret to hear that Mr. Angus Armour is confined to his bed through illness.

Qu'Appelle Curlers at Grenfell.

On Wednesday evening last a rink of curlers, composed of Sergeant, McIlwain and Gray, skipped by J. McNaughton, proceeded to Grenfell to take part in the bonspiel.

At nine o'clock the next morning they were drawn against the big 4 from Wolseley in the Skelton competition, defeating them by a wide margin. At 6 p. m. they pulled up against a rink of whole-hearted fellows from Mossburn, skiped by the gentlemanly of the crossbow, who was ably supported by the impressive Bigham, with Dr. Carter and Mr. Hunt, of the "spectator." Notwithstanding the sterling qualities of these curlers, they had to give way before the superior play of the representatives of the Heather club.

After a plate of oysters, served in Hunter's best style, the fight of the "spiel" took place.
Ferguson's rink, of Regina, dashed with a victory over McIlwain's rink, of Grenfell, faced the Heather boys on No. 2 ice. Then came a struggle. End after end was fought out and it looked as if Regina would win.
Our boys were down several points, but pulling themselves together, they led by one at the 12th end. Regulated this score on the 13th, and it was anybody's game.
Regina had the best of the last end until Ferguson played his last stone, unfortunately exposing his shot. A common ball shot by the opposing skip to take out this stone and ay on the ice was successfully accomplished and the cheering raised the roof.

The Heather boys thought their day's work well over, but were surprised when informed that they had to go on immediately and play the final in this competition.
There was no option, either play or default.
But when did Qu'Appelle curlers ever say quit? Facing Braunswaite's rink, which was comparatively fresh, and whose strength had been materially increased by the substitution of Mr. Greenlee in place of another player, and who had not appeared on the ice previously in the competition, they began play at 2 o'clock in the morning.
The Grenfell boys put up a strong game and though the Heather boys fought it out hard exhausted in the end to succumb, and they lost the skinner cup by two points.

The only playing after this came by the Qu'Appelle rink against that sterling curier, McLeod, of Grenfell, in the competition for the Tryon cup. It was well contested, Gray taking skip's place on the ice instead of McNaughton. At the 15th end Grenfell was one up. In the 16th Qu'- Appelle outplayed Grenfell completely and had a pretty end, tying three shots beautifully guarded, with McLeod having one stone to play. After several minutes consultation, McLeod elected to play a wide swick, which he executed in brilliant style, scoring shot and beating Qu'Appelle by two points.

Seconded the Grenfell bonspiel as far as the Qu'Appelle boys were concerned, but they left on Saturday's train feeling that they had been treated royally and looking forward to another winter when they hope to meet again on Grenfell ice.

SWEET, OH, SWEET!

A Banker's Experience.

I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Lemon and Turpentine for a troublesome cough, writes Manager Thomas Deason of the Standard Bank, nos. 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my custom to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor.

Regarding Registration.

Sec. 17, of Ordinance No. 34, entitled an ordinance respecting the registration of births, marriages and deaths, reads as follows:—

17 If any person required by this Ordinance to report births, marriages, deaths or burials, refuses or omits to do so within the time named, such person shall be fined and every offence herein and pay the sum of not less than $1 nor more than $50 and costs, and it shall be the duty of registrars to prosecute all such persons for neglecting or refusing to make the required reports within the limits of their respective divisions, but nothing contained in section shall prevent persons other than registrars from presenting defences.

Enjoyed His Trip.

Dr. Seymour, of Fort Qu'Appelle, returned on Monday evening from Calgary, where he had been attending a meeting of the medical officers of the C. W. College of Physicians and Surgeons. The doctor informs us that Doctor Head has been chosen as the next point in the Territories at which to hold medical examinations, while Calgary will represent the west. Four candidates were up for examination, three of whom are bound for the Yukon. The Yukon being one of the Territories, the requirements are the same as other parts of the Northwest. The doctor was delighted with his trip, and says the fine weather is general throughout the west, and several districts through which he passed were divided of snow. Before returning, the doctor took a run up to Banff, which place he says is one of the finest health resorts on the continent. While there he took a dip in one of the hot springs in the open air.
While round the outskirts of the spring the ground is covered with snow, yet the temperature of the water is such as to permit bathing. What struck the doctor particularly was the contrast. While bathing his companions amused themselves by pelling the swimmers with snowballs. At present there are a great many stopping at Banff—some for treatment at the springs, others for pleasure. The C.P.R. has spent a large amount of money at this point and the doctor thinks it will not be thrown away, for as soon as people come to realize there is such a fine spot on earth, there will be an immense rush to Banff both for pleasure and health.

Springbrook Sayings.

(From our own correspondent.)

There was an unusually large crowd at the literary meeting on Friday evening of last week, the subject for debate being a practical one: "Resolved, that mixed farming is more profitable than special farming." Affirmative—A. E.
Nicholls, P. O. Nelson, F. W. Seymour and Geo. Bakely. Negative

The annual business meeting of the Presbyterian church will be held in the Springbrook school house on Friday evening, Jan. 21, when the financial statement will be presented, and other matters pertaining to the appointment dispensed with.

The gentlemen who represented Springbrook at the banquet given Mr. Leader on the eve of his departure for the Klondyde, report a very enjoyable time and say that he left with the good wishes of all.

Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen from Springbrook enjoyed an evening at home with Mrs. Smith, of the Qu'Appelle Valley Hotel, this week.

Your correspondent has been informed that Mr. M. Kearns, of Lakeside, has purchased a farm in this locality.

Canada. Literary meets next Friday evening. Every person welcome.

It is altogether admirable when a man, by dint of sheer will, wrings a success from apparently impossible circumstances. The world is full of instances where men have done this, but never as history was thus accomplished by a weak and unhealthy man.
All health not only weakens every physical function but every mental faculty and every moral quality.
If a man will stop and reason for a moment, he does not have to be a physician to understand the causes of impure blood, or the far-reaching effects. When a man's digestion is dis-ordered, his liver stagnates, his bowels inactive, the blood is deprived of the proper food elements, and the sluggish liver and bowels secrete in their place, the foulest of poisons. The blood is the life-stream.
When it is full of foul poisons, it carries and deposits them in every organ and tissue of the body. Bone, sinew, muscle, and flesh tissue, the brain cells and the nerve fibres are all fed upon bad, poisonous food.
Serious ill health is bound to result. The man is weakened in every fiber of his body.
He is weakened physically, mentally and morally. He suffers from sick headache, distress in stomach after meals, giddiness, drowsiness, loss of appetite and sleep, bad taste in the mouth, shakiness in the morning, and dizziness throughout the day, and lassitude and an inclination to work.
Sooner or later these conditions develop consumption, nervous prostration, malaria, rheumatism, or some blood or skin disease.
Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all known medicines for ambitious, hard-working men and women. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder.
It makes the appetite keen and hearty, the digestion and assimilation perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and rich, the nerves steady, the body vigorous and the brain alert. Where there is also constipation Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used. Both of these great medicines are for sale by all medicine dealers.

Forestry

We cull the following article from the Nee-pawa Press, and think the question of timber-preserving is not only interesting but worthy of the attention of all our readers.
As our readers will see from what follows, the government is considering the matter, and if our municipal councils will also take up the affair, our government will feel all the more confident in taking action in the preservation of our trees. The following is the article:

"The reservation and preservation of our timber lands is now engaging the attention of the federal and provincial governments—a most commendable idea, which should have been acted upon long ago.
But in a new country like this the bent of most minds is for personal gain more than the country's good; hence it is such questions as forestry, which offers no opportunities for large personal profit have been overlooked. And now that the governments have taken up the question of forestry, we wish to suggest that they do not stop at protecting what we have, but that they should establish and carry out a broad scheme of forestry by the encouragement of tree-planting throughout this whole prairie west.
We have found that an annual Arbor Day does not amount to much. Neither do the municipal councils seem disposed to deal with the subject for the very good reason that the demands for schools, roads and bridges are all the ratepayers can meet. It is a matter which the governments alone can cope with; and we believe the time has come for vigorous action.

"By a general system of tree planting, Manitoba and the Northwest could in a few years be completely transformed in appearance and the climate considerably moderated. But we will not attempt just now to enlarge upon the many advantages to be reaped from a general and comprehensive system of forestry. We simply wish to suggest the question for consideration and that it is time to act.

"Some time ago the Press advised the municipalities giving to settlers fifteen feet of the road allowance on each side as remuneration for the planting of trees thereon.
This we still think advisable, but it is not enough. Besides this the government could well afford to give bonuses for large tracts planted to trees. Such a policy has proved a success in Minnesota where more 100,000 acres of land have been planted with trees during the past sixteen years.
This is the result of a law to encourage such work by the payment of a bounty of $2.50 per acre. To secure this bounty a farmer must plant not less than one acre or more than ten acres in one year. The Minnesota reports for last year show that 9,524 acres were planted with trees. Now, what has been done in Minnesota can also be done in Manitoba and the Northwest; and when it was found advisable to do it there, it cannot be a mistaken policy here where conditions are so similar.

"Having suggested a scheme of forestry for consideration and adoption Western Canada, the Press has also in mind a gentleman whom either the Provincial or Federal government might with full confidence in popular approval intrust with the superintendency of such a work. The gentleman is Mr. W.
F. Luxton, who gave twenty years of his life to journalism in this province and aided more than any man in demonstrating the advantages of this country for settlement, in advancing schemes for its settlement, and always led in agitation for the relief of burdens imposed on the people. Mr. Luxton is still as enthusiastic as ever in his advocacy of the claims and possibilities of the west; but is deprived of the privilege of exerting himself in that direction. A comprehensive scheme of forestry would afford an opportunity for him to devote the remainder of his life to a work entirely devoid of political or sectarian strife but calculated only to improve on the work of nature for the good of Man. This is a work which requires unselfish devotion to duty more than technical knowledge to produce the greatest possible good and we believe W. F.
Luxton is the man for the work.

FOR THE KLONDYKE.

The Hudson's Bay Company has issued a very handsome folder, giving maps and information which is of special interest to those who contemplate going to the gold districts of the Yukon, or in fact to any other mineral districts of British Columbia or the northwestern portion of the Territories. A portion of the outside cover of the folder bears the words: "Goods purchased in Canada do not have to pay duty, as the mines are in Canadian territory." This is something which every person who contemplates outfitting for the northern gold regions should ponder over. Canada is a fairly high tariff country, and foreigners who come here bringing supplies with them not only have the extra freight to pay on the supplies, but they will have to pay the duty as well. Goods going to the Klondyke by any of the routes, if purchased in the United States or any other country, will be subject to duty on entering Canada. All routes to the Klondyke are guarded by custom houses. Those who come from foreign countries should not purchase their supplies until they reach a point in Canada, as by so doing they will make a great saving in the cost of their outfits.

The folder gives two maps, one showing the railway connections from points in Canada and the United States to the various starting points for the Klondyke. The other map shows the great mineral districts of British Columbia and the territory to the north of the province, including Kootenay, Cariboo, Omineca, Cassiar and Klondyke.
This map also shows Hudson's Bay Company supply posts throughout the region included in the map.
A table of supplies required for one man for a year is also given.

Another part of the folder gives cens of the company's stores at Winnipeg, Vancouver and Calgary.
In addition to these stores, it is hardly necessary to state here that the company has stores and supply depots at, we may say, almost hundreds of other points throughout the country, including posts up into the Arctic circle. An immense stock of goods is carried at Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria and large stocks at points like Calgary and Edmonton. There are a number of supply posts owned by the company along the land and water routes via Edmonton, and via the Stikine route, the company has stores at Glenora, the head of navigation on the Stikine river, and at Tesline Lake. The company also operate a line of steamers on the Stikine river.

been handling the trade of the great north country for over 200 years.
Their trading posts dot the country from the United States on the south coast as near the north pole as it is possible to get for business purposes.
The officials of the company know exactly what is required in the north country; and with such a source of supply available it is a great mistake for foreigners to bring goods with them, on account of the extra cost of freight and duty as well as owing to the fact that supplies brought in by parties from the United States and other countries are usually entirely unsuited to the requirements of the country, thereby causing much hardship as well as waste of money.

Why I Became an Abstinence.

Dr. Richardson, of London, author of the celebrated "Cantor Lectures on Alcohol" and "The Temperance Lesson-Book" published by the National Temperance Society, gives his reason for abstinence in an address in Sheldonian Theater, Oxford, from which we take the following:

"Let me say, that at the commencement of the which brought me to the conclusion above stated I had no bias in favor of or pre-conceived opinion respecting alcohol. Like many other men of science, I had been too careless or to oblivious of those magnificent labors which the advocates of temperance, for its own sake, had, for many previous years, through good report and evil report, so nobly and truthfully carried out. But for what may be called one of the accidents of a scientific career I might, indeed, to the end of my days, have continued negative on this question."

"The circumstance that led me to the special study of alcohol is simply told. In the year 1863, I directed the attention of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, during its meeting at Newcastle, to the action of a chemical substance called nitrate of amyl, the physiological properties of which I had for some months previously been studying by investigation. My researches resulted so much to my satisfaction that I was directed by the physiological section of the association, over which Professor Huxley was most ably presiding, to continue my researches, in the course of pursuing them, other chemical substances came under observation. Amongst these was the well-known chemical product which the Arabian chemist, Al-Bucaysi, is said to have obtained from wine, which on account of its subtlety, was called alcohol, which is now called ethylic alcohol, and which forms the stimulating part of all wines, spirits, beer, and other intoxicating drinks. To the research I devoted three years, from 1863 to 1866 modifying experiments in every conceivable way, taking advantage of seasons and varying temperatures of season, extending observation from class of animals to another, and making comparative researches with other forms of the alcohol series than the ethylic or common alcohol."

"The results, I confess, were as surprising to me as any one else. They were surprising from their definiteness and their uniformity. They were most surprising from the complete contradiction they gave to the popular idea that alcohol is a supporter and sustainer of the animal temperature."

supporter and sustainer of the animal temperature.

"1. That it is an entire fallacy to suppose that alcohol, in any of its forms of intoxicating drink, is the gift of God to man."

"2. That if the habit of drinking intoxicating beverages is never indulged, it is never felt as a want."

"3. If this habit be indulged, the difficulties of throwing it off are tenfold increased."

"4. You may further teach by history and example—but always better by example—that the hardest work, mental and bodily, is best carried on without the stimulating effects of this agent which so many look to for support in all their labors."

"5. That alcohol has no claim, in a scientific sense, to be considered as a sustainer either of bodily or mental life or work."

"6. That in alcohol there is nothing that can build up any tissues or supply any force."

"7. That in approaching the subject of temperance, and in showing the uselessness of the most mischievous of all agents within the reach of men, you are promoting a good which extends beyond your time."

Sixty years ago there were not more than 100 total abstinence in all the churches of Great Britain, not a single bishop, and not a score of the medical profession. Now there are two archbishops, 14 bishops, several bishops and clergymen of the several denominations, and 1,300 physicians who are total abstinence. It is also stated that every third man in the army is a teetotaler."

Six Bottles of Nature's Medicine Effect a Complete Cure.

A Strong and Convincing Letter

Wells & Richardson Co.,

Dear Sirs—For five years I suffered from sciatica and rheumatism, at times being so bad that I could not walk or put my hand to my mouth. If I attempted to do any work I would be crippled for weeks. I took medical treatment, Turkish and mineral baths, but all failed to meet my case. Some time ago I tried Paine's Celery Compound, and after using six bottles I feel like a new man, and can do a hard day's work and feel none the worse for it. I have also gained in weight and can say I am permanently cured. Yours truly,

How to Be Happy Through It. Very few understand the art of being comfortable in the torrid season. There would be less comfort and fewer fatalities if the human family would apply a few very simple rules.

Avoid undue excitement. Murder, mayhem and bignamy should be practiced sparingly, if at all.

Diet is all important. Anyone in the habit of eating should not give it up while the warm season is on.

Clothing. If prompted to wear two suits at the same time, when the thermometer is over 10, take no action until you consult a physician.

Use care in handling firearms. If necessary to discharge a revolver while there is much humidity in the air, see that the barrel is turned from you.

Do not allow accounts to run during the oppressive season. Do your dressing when asked.

Shun suicide as you would the bubonic plague. Self-destruction is always fatal in midsummer.
